Biography of

Mrs. Aliza Taftian Halavy

Aliza Taftian Halavy, wife of the late Sion Cyrus Halavy and a mother of four, was born in Tehran, Iran. Her longtime passion for community activism and philanthropy began in 1944, when she became a member of the Jewish Brotherhood & Sisterhood Organization in Tehran. In 1949, Mrs. Halavy moved to the newly established State of Israel to pursue a post-secondary education in nursing. She attended Municipal Hadassah Medical Center in Tel Aviv, and specialized Midwifery. She completed 4 years of schooling & residency with an additional 3 years as a midwife, where she delivered many babies.

Mrs. Halavy met and married her husband, Sion Cyrus Halavy, in Israel In 1951. After moving back to Iran, she was recruited by the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee (which was then and remains today the world's leading Jewish humanitarian organization) to work as President of the Children's Health Department at the Kanoun Kheir Khah Hospital for 7 years. The rising specter of revolution in Iran prompted Mrs. Halavy to move to Los Angeles in 1978. Mrs. Halavy became a board member of the Iranian Jewish Women's Organization (IJWO) in 1982 and served as president of the IJWO from 1997 to 2002. Mrs. Aliza Halavy remains an active board member of the organization till today.

pendent State of Israel and immediately secured a job as a broadcaster for "Sedaye Iran," a Persian radio news program. In 1951, Mr. Halavy married
